

COURTING

June 2012

Andy Pollard
41 Denmark Avenue
Woodley
Reading
RG5 4RS
email: andypollard777@btinternet.com
Tel: 01189699740 / 07957 805926

FADE IN:

INT. COURTROOM - DAY

A mumbling hubbub as Barristers' settle into their places and the jury begin taking their seats.

INT. HOUSE - STAIRS, HALL - DAY

A MAN comes down the stairs, buttoning his shirt.

By the front door he puts on a jacket and looks at a Decree Absolute on a small table.

He picks up his car keys and then checks his pockets, pulling out a red lipstick.

He leaves the house.

INT. COURTROOM - DAY

A FEMALE CLIENT, mid 30's, enters and takes her place next to her Barrister team.

The court rises as DISTRICT JUDGE KATHERINE GREEN enters.

EXT. DRIVEWAY - DAY

The Man gets into his car - written on the driver's side of the car is the word 'BASTARD'.

The car pulls out of the drive.

INT. COURTROOM - DAY

The female client stands as a FEMALE BARRISTER begins to approach her.

EXT. STREET - DAY

The Man's car pulls up next to an attractive WOMAN, early 30's, opens his window and presents the lipstick to the Woman.

WOMAN

(puzzled)

Today? It's Valentine's Day? If you're sure.

The Man gives a small nod and a sheepish smile.

She walks round to the passenger side and gets in. The car pulls away revealing the word 'BORING' written on the passenger's side.

INT. COURTROOM - DAY

The Man enters dramatically, wearing only his socks, underpants, and his shirt.

The female client stares in the Man's direction.

The District Judge rises and points her gavel in the direction of the Man.

Our POV, the Man begins to stride toward the Judge, ripping open his shirt, revealing 'HOW'S THIS FOR BORING?' written in lipstick, on his chest

Nearing the front of court, the Man makes a small turn toward one team of Barrister's.

He completes the removal of his shirt, revealing 'MARRY
ME AGAIN...' written in lipstick on his back.

The Female Barrister looks stunned as the Man approaches her...

...gently placing his hands on the side of her face and kisses her passionately, causing her Barrister's wig to come adrift.

MAN

I love you. Marry me...again

As the two continue to kiss, the Man drops his y-fronts and the word 'PLEASE' is written in lipstick on his bum.

FADE OUT: